Introduction

Ryedale is a predominantly rural area covering some 575 square miles (148,900 hectares) in North Yorkshire. Geographically, the largest district in North Yorkshire, Ryedale comprises a rich agricultural area, as well as including part of the North York Moors National Park. The district population 50,872 (2001 Census) is centred mainly in the twin towns of Malton and Norton, where the administration centre has been established, and the market towns of Pickering, Kirkbymoorside and Helmsley.

The resident population of Ryedale, as measured in the 2001 Census, was 50,872, of which 49 per cent were male and 51 per cent were female.

General Description

Kirkbymoorside Ward

This ward covers part of the southern edge of the North York Moors. A major employer is Perry Slingsby Aviation.

There are the sites of two castles in Kirkbymoorside itself. One of the Stuteville family on Vivers Hill, of which only the moat is visible, and the other of the Nevilles above a ravine to the north of the town. There is also a Priory at Keldholme founded by the Stuteville family for Cistercian nuns around the time of Henry I. To the south west of the town, in Kirkdale, is St Gregory's, a late Saxon church, with a sundial dating to around 1060. Nearby is Welburn Hall of which one wing is Jacobean, the rest being a good imitation. Nawton Tower was built in 1855 and altered in 1930. (Pevsner,1966). George Villiers, second Duke of Buckingham, died in Kirkbymoorside whilst out hunting from Helmsley Castle.

The settlements that make up the ward are mostly of Old English (OE) with some Old Scandinavian (OScand) derived place names, many of them traceable to the Domesday Book (DB):

Kirkbymoorside Village with a church near the head or top of the moor (Chirchebi 1086 DB; Kirkeby Moresheved c.1170)

Welburn Stream fed by a spring (OE)

Wombleton Farmstead or a village of a man called Wynbald or Winebald (Winbeltun 1086 DB)

Kirkbymoorside Ward comprises the following parishes:

Kirkbymoorside
Welburn
Wombleton

Indices of Deprivation

The Indices of Deprivation 2004 were published by the Department for Communities & Local Government (DCLG) in May 2004, and revised in June 2004. They measure deprivation at a small area level of Lower Layer Super Output Areas (SOAs). SOAs are a new geography designed for the collection and publication of small area statistics and fit within current Ryedale ward boundaries. The ID 2004 updates the ID 2000 in two key ways, more up-to-date data has been used and new measures have been incorporated as new and improved data sources have become available, therefore ID 2000 and ID 2004 are not comparable.

Index of Multiple Deprivation

The IMD 2004 provides an overall score of deprivation, combining 7 distinct categories of deprivation, known as domains. These domains cover:

Low income	Lack of work	Poor health	Lack of education
Poor housing and access to services	Crime		Poor living environment

There are also two supplementary indices:
Child poverty Older people in poverty

The Indices are available on the DCLG website www.communities.gov.uk by following the links to Research and Statistics/Publications/Creating better communities research and statistics/Indices of Deprivation. Maps of SOAs are available on the Office for National Statistics website www.statistics.gov.uk under Neighbourhood.
